

The Citizen.

BRIEF NOTES.

A German Democratic Club is talked of in Bloomfield.

Prof. Wm. C. Carl has returned from vacation.

Workmen are engaged in improving the road west of Willow street.

Broad street is being improved north of Mr. Lindemeyer's.

The public schools will not open until Tuesday the 4th of Sept.

Misses Thomas Oakes and William Coffey have been drawn on the Grand Jury.

Mr. Hald, the livery stable man, received a consignment of fine horses from the west last week.

Mr. Louis Dawkins has sold part of his property on Belleville avenue to Mr. J. E. East Orange.

Mr. Stanford Farrand is making some improvements to the property recently purchased by him at Fairview.

Extensive improvements are being carried out on the property between Macle and Linden avenue west of Ward avenue.

A stone side walk has been put down at the corner of Orange and Poloniet Sts.

Christ Episcopal Church will, Sept. 9th, open for services until Sunday, Sept. 9th, and to the decorations not being completed.

Mr. Fred Hecker's new house on Newark avenue is now in the course of erection with Henry J. Yost as superintending architect.

Burglars effected an entrance in the rooms of William Johnson on Bloomfield avenue Monday night and obtained a sum of money.

Rev. J. A. Monroe of Park M. E. Church, is expected to return from his summer vacation at Ocean Grove and to preach tomorrow.

Misses Akers and Unanue of the Johnson Battery went to New York on Tuesday to purchase uniforms for the members of the Battery.

Burglars entered the barn and henry of Walter E. Evans, on Monday night and stole a set of buggy harness and fourteen chickens.

Some small children were playing on Moffet's bridge last Tuesday when a train came along. It was barely stopped in time to allow them to escape.

Mr. James Wallace of Newark avenue was put under bonds to keep the peace last Saturday. He was arrested on complaint of Patrick Neville.

Burglars effected an entrance to the hotel of Charles Ross, on Bloomfield avenue Tuesday night and stole a large quantity of cigars.

August Aue, a resident of Washington avenue, fell from a pear tree on Tuesday and received serious internal injuries. He is reported to be in a critical condition.

Overtures have been made to the Erie-Trent Company for the extension of their lines through North Park street, Orange road and Elm street to Montclair.

No steps have yet been taken and probability will be until this fall.

The Bloomfield Hat Makers' Association held a business meeting on Monday night. The trouble in the Orange district was the principal topic discussed. No definite action was taken.

President Eppey of the Orange and Bloomfield Street Railway says the reports about the Watessing extension are untrue. Cases are now being procured for a branch between Orange and Montclair.

A young man in Montclair attempted to commit suicide on account of a quarrel with a young lady with whom he was keeping company. A room-mate discovered him in the act of taking poison and prevented him.

Michael Cuff, age 73, a resident of Montclair, died on Wednesday from the effects of injuries received in an altercation on Sunday in which the old man was engaged with Patrick Kelley, who was intoxicated.

Johnnie Erickson caught a two pound bluefish while fishing at the D. L. A. W. R. bridge on Second River last Saturday. How the fish got there is unaccountable. It has been a good many years since a fish of this kind has been caught in a Bloomfield stream.

John Schallitz, a Polisher, was killed by a falling barrel on Monday. The barrel was thrown from a second story window and fell on the head of the man who was passing by. The man was taken to the hospital and is now in a critical condition.

A young man and a young lady were engaged in a quarrel on the Washington railroad at Watessing on Thursday night. They were walking on the track and did not notice the approach of the train but fortunately the engineer stopped the train and the man was not hurt.

A murderous affray occurred on Bloomfield avenue at a late hour Wednesday night, in the vicinity of Grove street, among a party of negroes. One of them had attended the Democratic banner raising and was giving a glorious account of it to his companions. They disputed his story and a conflict ensued in which the man was beaten and left on the street in an insensible condition. His assistant fled to New York.

Rev. Mr. Miyake, of Okayama, Japan, will preach tomorrow, 2d inst., in the First Presbyterian Church. He is a graduate of Rutgers College, and expects to return to Japan in February next as a Japanese missionary there. In the evening he will speak on Japan, wearing the costume of his native country. On account of his long journey, the services will be held in the Sunday School room.

Glen Ridge Notes.

News being noted by the B. & O. R. R. over Moffet's Pond.

Nothing has been done as yet by the Bloomfield company toward raising the bridge at Glen Ridge. It is a matter which they were much concerned about since.

The attention of the Freeholders is called to the condition of the cap stone bridge at Glen Ridge. It should be repaired in its present state as it gives the structure a dilapidated appearance.

Frederick, a laborer employed at the Glen Ridge bridge, was struck on the head by a stone which fell from the bridge on Tuesday afternoon. He was committed to jail for 30 days by Justice Hall.

LOCAL REPUBLICAN SPEECHES

Dr. Richards' Instructive Address on The Tariff.

GREAT GROVER AND GREAT BRITAIN

Overhauled by a Patriotic Irish-American.

The Republican mass meeting on Tuesday evening was well attended. Mr. Thos. McGowan, President of the Bloomfield Republican Club, presided. The meeting commenced with singing "My Country, 'tis Thee." The Chairman then presented Dr. Harry E. Richards as one of the speakers of the evening. Dr. Richards said it was not his purpose to deliver a stump speech, his intention being to shape his remarks in the form of a short lecture on the subject of Political Economy. His line of argument was based on historical facts, illustrating the inevitable consequences that had followed the adoption of a policy of free-trade or of one tending in that direction. Commercial depression, stagnation of industries, and poverty and distress among the laboring classes, had invariably followed in the wake of every movement in that direction.

In the year 1870, the speaker said, Great Britain was a protected country. In 1867 the exportation of sheep from that country was forbidden and any violation of the law was punished with the most barbarous penalties. Not until as late as the year 1846 would the English government allow the exportation of any machinery used in the flax industry. The speaker showed all these measures were enacted for a definite purpose and that purpose was the protection of English industries.

In the eighteenth century the English government sent commissioners to this country to inquire into the state of its manufactures. The commissioners on their return reported that several industries in America were attaining a degree of importance, especially the iron trade. The commissioners intimated to the Parliament that the development of manufacturing in the colonies would lessen their country's revenue. In 1763, therefore, measures were at once enacted for the crushing out of these industries. These measures were of a most oppressive nature. (The speaker here related the story of the Boston Tea Party and the subsequent closing of the harbor.) The issue was of recent date was not in accordance with history, which evinced that the nation of revenue and protection was as old as the most ancient Egyptian mummy. Between the years 1783 and 1789, almost absolute free-trade prevailed in this country. Commerce and manufacturing languished, the people were impoverished, the public treasury empty and the government unable to obtain sufficient revenue to meet the expenses of the government. The several States devised individual methods of raising revenue. The national debt, each other in their application. Congress was applied to for relief. The one act passed by Congress was the one for raising revenue. The national debt was increased. The speaker then related the story of the Boston Tea Party and the subsequent closing of the harbor.

The speaker called attention to the striking parallel between the extension of free-trade and the present. It was at this period that Southern members of Congress began to insist on the tariff. The tariff was a protection to the American people and a source of revenue to the government. The speaker then related the story of the Boston Tea Party and the subsequent closing of the harbor.

The speaker then related the story of the Boston Tea Party and the subsequent closing of the harbor.

CLEVELAND AND THURMAN.

A Demonstration that Fully Satisfied the Bloomfield Democracy.

THEY RAISE A HANDSOME BANNER AMID MUCH ENTHUSIASM.

eloquent speeches by Hon. Edw. L. Abbott and Others.

The raising of a campaign banner by the Bloomfield Cleveland and Thurman Club on Wednesday night was the occasion of a display of great enthusiasm by the members of the Democratic party in this town. The occasion had been looked forward to by a large number of people, irrespective of party, owing to the large measure to the prominence of the individual who was advertised to make the principal address. His close connection with that all-important topic, the "Mills Bill," had awakened curiosity as well as interest among the people to hear what he had to say.

A very large audience assembled at the center, perhaps as large as has ever been witnessed in Bloomfield on a purely political occasion. The hall of the American House, which was the headquarters for the evening, everything was bustle and animation. As the crowd grew in numbers the countenances of the party members grew brighter and brighter, and they frequently shook hands and exchanged congratulations. It was very evident that even their most sanguine anticipations had been more than realized. Various juvenile companies termed "batteries" added to the confusion and din with their drums and cannons, torches and banners. The Dickerson Battery, commanded by W. A. Akers, assisted by Lieut. (Naght and burning, turned out in large numbers. They fired a number of salutes during the evening. The Watessing Brass Band was stationed on the lawn in front of the hotel and discoursed on the evening music. Many ladies viewed the scene from the American House parlor windows. At 8 o'clock the banner was raised and the address of the speaker, Hon. Edw. L. Abbott, commenced. The speaker, who was introduced by Mr. Thos. McGowan, President of the Bloomfield Republican Club, Joseph D. Gallagher, Vice-President, Daniel J. Brinkley, Secretary, and Wm. A. Akers, Treasurer, all of whom were present, addressed the assembly that they had been disappointed in their speaker. Congressman Abbott, of Tennessee, who had been announced to address them was unable to be present having been suddenly called to Washington on official business. Mr. Rayner, who was introduced as Governor Abbott, was then introduced and delivered an interesting address. He related the story of the Boston Tea Party and the subsequent closing of the harbor.

The speaker then related the story of the Boston Tea Party and the subsequent closing of the harbor.

The Prohibitionists.

The Prohibitionists held a grand rally at Woodside on Wednesday.

A large attendance was present. A number of interesting addresses were delivered, the principal ones being by Gen. Clinton B. Fisk, Mrs. Mary A. Lathrop and Prof. Hopkins. Much time was spent in demonstrating that the tariff was an issue of no consequence in comparison with the issue raised and fostered by the Prohibition party. The best of humor prevailed and the scene bore more resemblance to a church picnic than a political gathering.

PURE JERSEY or ALDERNEY MILK, IN GLASS BOTTLES!

PURE JERSEY or ALDERNEY MILK IN QUART GLASS BOTTLES will be delivered by me, and the patronage of the public is solicited.

The Milk offered is warranted perfectly pure, and is from imported Jersey Cattle. The Cattle are fed on the BEST of Food, and no feed being allowed them that would impair the healthfulness of the Milk.

The stables and cattle are kept in the most perfect manner as to Cleanliness and Ventilation—a most important factor in healthy milk production. As a table article and beverage it recommends itself, showing a larger percentage of cream than any other Milk sold.

MILK IN GLASS HAS THE FOLLOWING ADVANTAGES:

- 1st. It is more cleanly than being exposed to odors and contamination, to blowing dust, and dirt, to the drip and dirt from the reins or hands of the driver.
- 2d. Its quality may be seen at a glance by the cream at the top, and the color of the milk.
- 3d. It will keep sweet longer, because in delivering there is no churning (each bottle being filled to the stopper), and the bottles are kept cool in warm weather until delivered.
- 4th. Its flavor is better, because the air has no chance to act upon it, and because it is absolutely free from the metallic flavor often noticed in milk transported in tin.

Parties wishing to be served can call at farm in Bloomfield, or send postal to:
